THE SENIOR CLASS
WASHINGTON-LEE
HIGH SCHOOL
ARLINGTON, VIRGINIA
PRESENTS
THE BLUE AND GRAY

DEDICATION

To Washington-Lee High School, we dedicate this edition of the BLUE AND GRAY. By Washington-Lee, we mean not only a building; our school is many more things, intangible things.

It is, first of all, our classes in English and chemistry and civics, homework and piles of books.

It is the satisfaction we get from yelling for "our side" and the sore throat the next day.

It is a hamburger and a chocolate shake after the last big formal.

It is "to the rear" and "by the numbers," the martial music and spirited salutes of our cadets.

It is the quiet beauty and solemnity of the Christmas pageant.

It is the splashy posters expounding the virtues of people and things and times to come.

It is a way of life made up of all these things and many more.

It has been a challenge and an inspiration and this is our way of saying, "Thanks for everything."

Elos is the literary society of Washington-Lee, organized in 1939. Now sponsored by Mr. Campbell, the society endeavors to reward literary achievement as well as other accomplishments. Each year, awards are presented to the winner of the annual Elos short story contest and to the best actor and actress of the plays produced during the school year. Athletic-scholastic trophies are also presented to an outstanding boy and girl in the Senior Class on the basis of athletic ability, scholastic achievement, and citizenship.

Increasing its scope, Elos members recently began compiling a history of the school which will grow more valuable with the years. It is their ambition to stimulate interest in literary activity and it is for this aim that they strive.

During the year Tri-Y participated as a junior member in the activities of the Y.W.C.A. The club presented a Christmas program in the cafeteria, with music and a decorated tree.

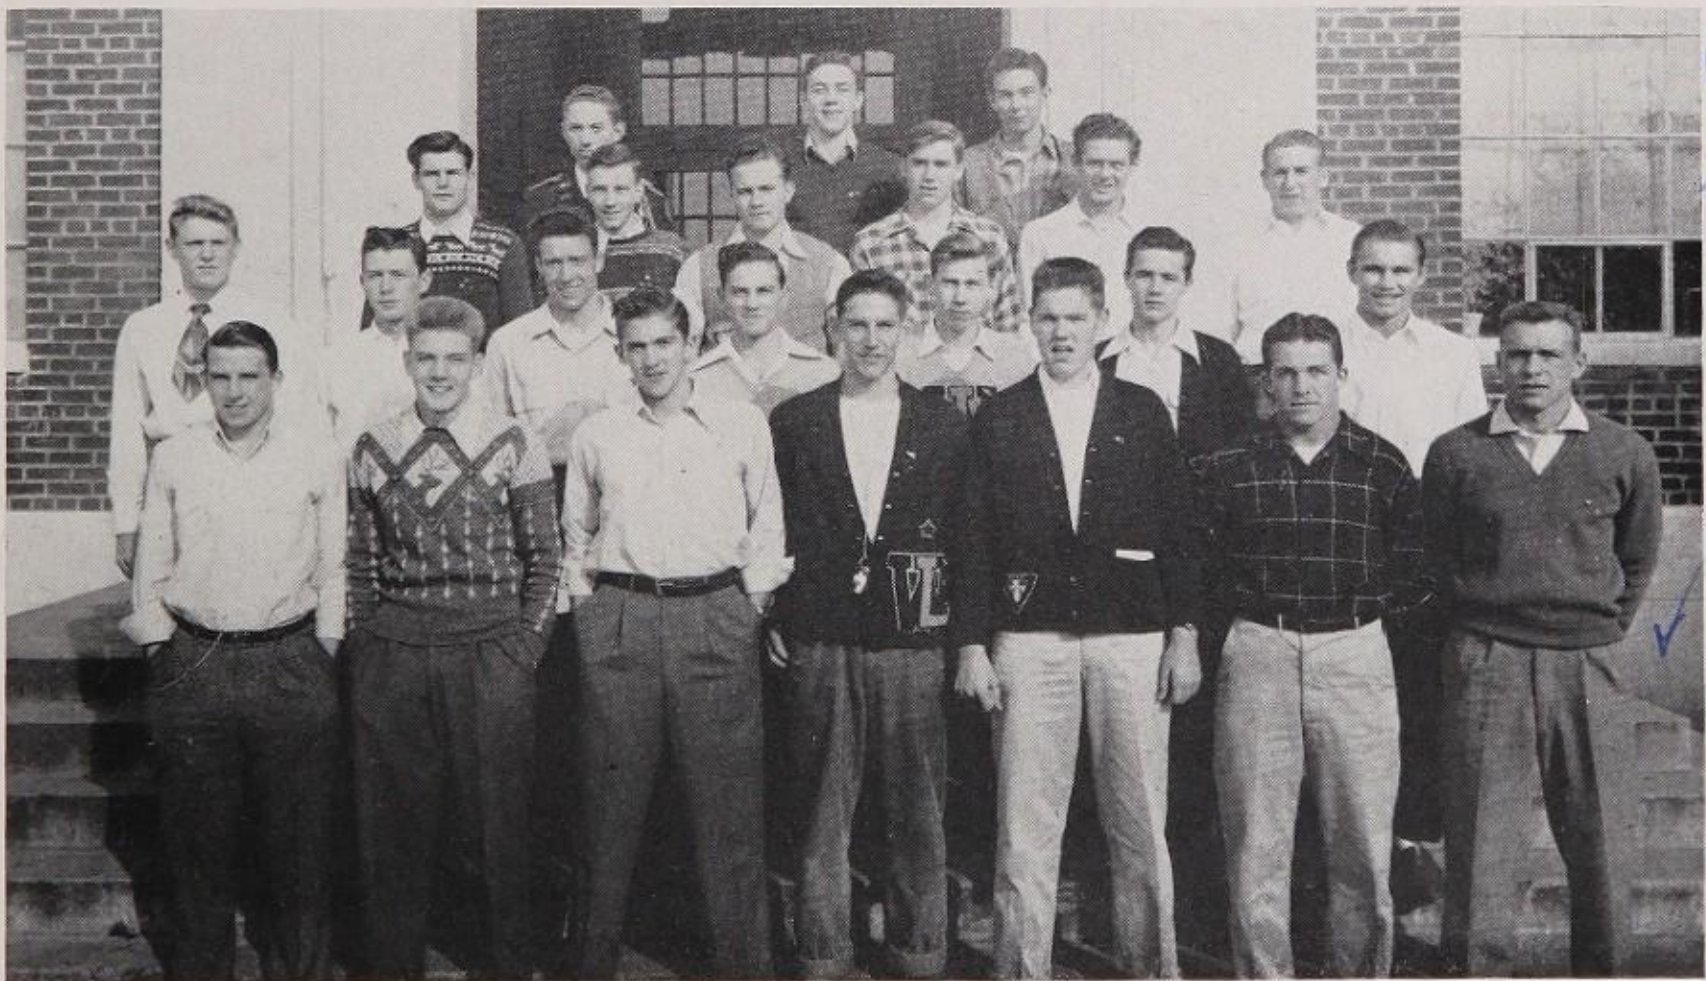

Tri-Y, along with other clubs of the Washington area, sponsored many social activities at the Y, such as semi-monthly Co-ed Nights, a Mother-Daughter Tea, a Dad-Daughter Banquet, a Christmas Dance, and club suppers. As part of their service to the school and community, members of the club helped collect food and clothing for the family they adopted. They also presented a fashion show for the student body.

Thus, Tri-Y completed another successful year, following its purpose "To create and maintain throughout the high school and community a higher standard of Christian character."

sees the
Washington-Lee
Hi-Y Club in its 13th year as one of W-L's prominent service organizations. The year started with a very successful Hi-Y, Tri-Y dance. From there they went on to the clean-up campaign, and the checking of late buses.
In addition to service to the school the Hi-Y sponsored various social functions. All in all the Hi-Y lives up to the high standards of past years set forth in their purpose "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

The Distributor's Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Gwathmey and Miss Edwards, is celebrating its third successful year. Students have come to anticipate the Club's outstanding Fashion Show and Valentine Party—both annual events and social activities. Many notable speakers from various lines of business have visited the club at its regular sessions. Of the twenty-four clubs in the state of Virginia, it ranks at the top of the list and is national as well as local.

EDUCATION

Distributive Education—the youngest Department in Washington-Lee—has the honor of representing the "largest enrollment increase" in the state of Virginia. The curriculum includes courses in Retail Training and Consumer Buying.

The Distributive Education Slogan is "Fitting Students for Life."

SERVICE CLUB

Do you have an odd job you need done? Consult the Service Club. They can do anything mechanical, electrical, or technical. They run all the movies for recreation as well as most of the educational ones. For the plays, they put up the sets, do the wiring, supervise the lights, and the curtains, and remove all equipment when the play is over. They're the working crew of W-L.

VETERANS' CLUB

The club, although new and still in the process of being formed, seems well on the way of attaining its goal of encouraging better fellowship within the school and community, and of maintaining the fine social standard which it has established. Its keen enthusiasm is productive of fine future community leaders. In spite of the members' long absence from their studies, their adjustment has been rapid. We hope that fellow veterans who follow in their footsteps will live up to these high standards. The veterans thank Mr. Jones for his untiring efforts in helping to organize the club; they also wish to extend their thanks to the faculty, students, Mr. Richmond, and especially "Ma" Malott.

1946 was another great year for W-L football. The "Little Generals" won ten of their twelve games against the stiffest schedule of any team in the Metropolitan Area. After dropping a hard fought encounter to Portsmouth's Wilson High, the W-L powerhouse came back with a winning streak of seven games. When the "Generals" had safely laid away George Washington on Thanksgiving Day, they received an invitation to go to High Point, North Carolina and play High Point High in a night Furniture Bowl contest. They accepted and brought home a 26-14 win. The W-L aggregation was picked as the best High School team in the area. The High School coaches placed ten W-Lites on the '46 All-High squad with McGill, Sieber, and Groettum chosen first string, while Reymer, Johnson, McMurrer, Harvey, Field, Hayes, and Lewis grabbed other spots. Fowler, Schwarzmann, Stanfield, Dawkins, Ambrogi, Curry and Holsinger also were outstanding. Thompson and Wooschlager, co-captains, were injured in the Bullis game and were out most of the year.

McMurrer became the first to score a point-after-touchdown in the history of the All Star game as he kicked three. Hayes, who completed 9 passes over 55 yards (7 for touchdowns) was chosen as the outstanding back of the game. He was chosen on the twelfth annual All-Southern scholastic team.

The team score of 308 points was high for this area. The record also shaded the old record of 269, set in 1942. Lewis' 74 points was individual high while Hayes' 72 was close behind.

This year the Washington-Lee basketball team began operations with six veterans, including four first stringers, from last year. As Frank Rockwell began his third year as coach, this season's five opened their stiff schedule on December 6th against Charlotte Hall Military Academy. The team is:

The girls' basketball team in its second year under the commendable coaching of Miss Marjorie Willard had a good season and came out on top as usual. But what could you expect with such players as Louise Garber, "Bert" Wallace, Mary Jane Haycraft, "Jinxie" Engle, Dolores Webb, Mary Mierke, Nancy Kneen, "Evie" Goddard, and Ruth Sorenson, all "vets" of last year. Add to these, the fine new players and able managers and you have a hard- to-beat combination.

The team's victorious record is final proof of the time they have spent practicing plays and passes, and shooting for baskets. They have worked hard and we are proud of them.

HOCKEY TEAM

The girls' hockey team did very well this year despite the fact that it was made up mainly of new material. The team played seven games and won five.

Of the other two, one (the Fairfax game) was a tie and the other (Friends) a loss. With twenty girls on the team this year only six—Louise Garber, Dolores Webb, Mary Mierke, Caroline Hyett, Nancy Kneen, and Nancy Birch—were seniors. This large majority of underclassmen gives promise that next year's team will make an even better record.

The 1946 baseball team was another of the Washington-Lee athletic teams which experienced a very successful season. Rated the best nine in the Metropolitan Area, the Little Generals won thirteen games while dropping only four. They also copped the Northern Virginia title by polishing off Fairfax, Mount Vernon, and Lane twice and G. W. once. The most decisive win of the season was the 18-0 rout of Lane on May 15, 1946. The team won the suburban championship and, as there was no state competition, the boys could try for no more than sectional honors.

W-L's three star pitchers, "Lefty" Bridenbaker, "Monk" Carney, and Jake Garland each tossed one-hit encounters to contribute to one of the most successful diamond campaigns in the school's history. At the time Garland and Bridenbaker, who graduated in June, seemed headed for pro ball. Roger Groettum, star outfielder and possessor of one of the best arms in these parts, wielded the "big stick" last season. Perry Currin, great W-L shortstop, and Harry McPherson, third baseman, also hit heavily to pace the Generals' offensive.

The W-Lites pulled off a triple play in the second game with Warren High of Front Royal. The record

Regular drilling five days a week, raising and lowering the flag, firing on the range, and the precision drilling of the Crack Squads are but a few of the Cadet activities. As an extra service, the Cadet Corps attends to many jobs which facilitate smoother operation in school undertakings. Drilling in the annual dress parade on Founders' Day and ushering at assemblies are but two of these services. A special ushering detail, and one from which the Cadets derive a great deal of pleasure, is the detail for the concert of the National Symphony Orchestra. The Girls' Battalion takes part in all activities except the carrying of rifles.

The Regimental Ball is the big social event of the Cadet year. Another occasion which is anticipated for its social as well as its military aspect is a trip to Winchester for a competitive parade at the Apple Blossom Festival.

Each year the rivalry between George Washington High School's Cadets and our own reaches its height in a competitive drill between the schools' prize companies. Winning this drill is one of the best-remembered accomplishments of a Cadet's career. The Cadet Band is also given a chance to display its ability by a spring concert.

So a Cadet's life is a full one. With drills, parades, trips, and dances, he is kept always busy and interested.

And speaking of clothes, I suppose you've noticed the good looking ones Jean Niswander and Jinxie Engle always sport. Rumor says they get most of their things at Helen Waldron's. I dropped in there once and, really, you never saw such darling things. I came out loaded down. And boy, was Dad proud of his thrifty daughter.

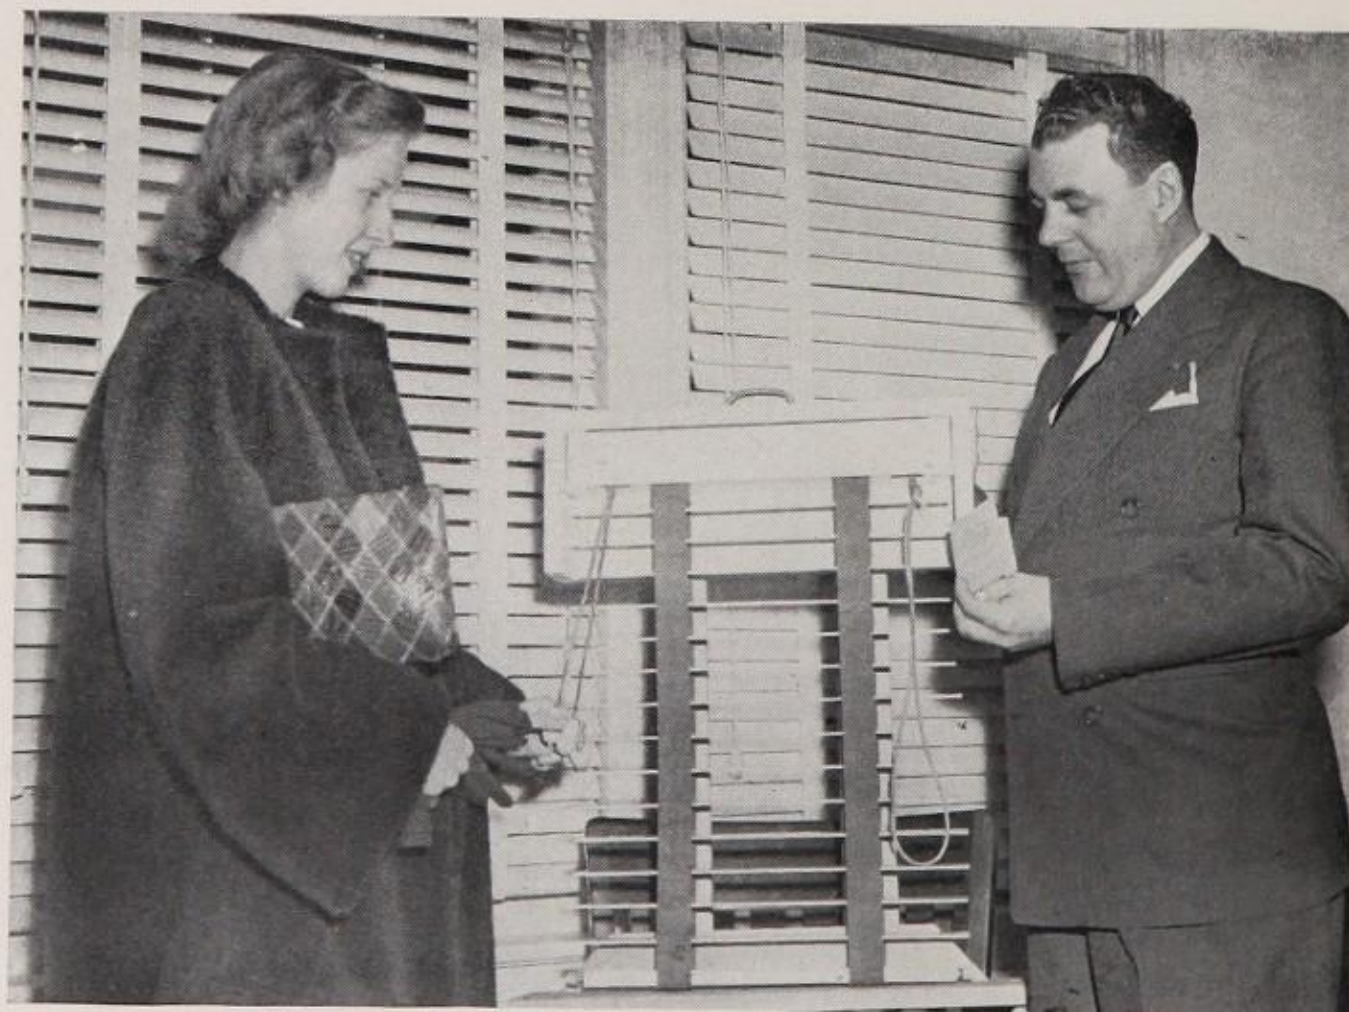

By the way, I stopped in at the Gott's Linoleum, Inc., the other day just in time to be invited to a party. It seems that Sue Brooks and Caroline Pearson were out hunting linoleum for their new recreation room. They hope to have it all finished in time for a bang-up good time before school is over for good. Hope your name is on the list—see you there!

Say, let's go by the Westover Pharmacy. I've a few things to get for the family and we're sure to find some of the gang there. It's our regular hide out. Who's that cute little girl next to Don? Pat Kerns—oh, yes, one of those up-coming sophomores! And there's the Phillips twins and Ann Read. Looks like our nimble President and Caroline beat us here. I always like to come here—such a nice, friendly store and, boy, do we go for the yummy confections at the soda fountain. Hello, folks!

OOOh! Did you see that dreamy Oldsmobile that just passed? It was just like the scrumptious one that Harriet Turner and John Lundberg were looking at so possessively at the Olmstead Motor Co. That's the place to go for such beautiful cars and they are so courteous and helpful.

The Lewis twins are getting a few pointers from Mr. Lewis Johnston of the Hauling and Excavating service. They're making plans for a summer cottage and of course wanted to be sure that from the ground up everything would be just as they want it. Mr. Johnston has had so much experience that they are glad to tell him just what they plan and leave to him the job of making their dreams come true. They did so want that particular lot, but until they thought of Mr. Johnston the job of getting it ready for building seemed hopeless. My, it's grand to have such an efficient company so handy.

Why don't you stop in at my house for a glass of milk and a piece of cake? Mother made the cake and the milk's from the Arlington Dairy. We get all of our dairy products from them. Seems like Barbara Mills shares our enthusiasm for Arlington Dairy Products—maybe that accounts for her lovely teeth and pretty skin.

My, but we had fun on our little shopping tour, didn't we. Yes, Arlington business people are out on top!

Best wishes and good luck to you Old neighbors. Remember those days in at my home when it seemed like the Circus was in town, well it was only the Kenny, Gello, and me juggling. That was the day.
